Caring Beyond Our Schools

We'd like to recognize one of our own for going above and beyond, not in a school building, but out in our community.

Recently, a parent of Franklin Elementary students shared a heartfelt note about Alberto, who stopped to help after she experienced a flat tire while driving with her three children. On a hot day, Alberto changed the tire, invited the family to wait in the air-conditioned comfort of his vehicle, and helped them safely get back on the road.

The parent shared that his kindness made an incredibly difficult day much easier. She described Alberto as "an angel sent from the heavens above" and wanted the District to know how much his compassion meant to her family.

Thank you, Alberto, for demonstrating the kindness, care, and commitment to others that make our community stronger. Your willingness to stop and help reflects the very best of West Allis-West Milwaukee.
