Who makes up the MREA?

MREA brings together teachers, administrators and school board members from across Greater Minnesota and partners with education cooperatives, higher education, nonprofits, businesses and community members.

How did MREA get started?

A grassroots organization, MREA was founded in 1985 by a group of school board members and administrators who believed non-metro school districts needed a focused voice in St. Paul to represent every student around the state.

How does MREA serve schools?

MREA serves school districts by advocating for the issues that matter to them, communicating changes and the impact they'll have and providing high-quality professional development and networking.

Recommendation

I move to renew the membership with Minnesota Rural Education Association (MREA) for the 2024-25 school year.
