Dear Grant Committee:

Please accept the following proposal on behalf of the CTE students of Fernley High School. It is my hope that you would consider approving the purchase of the Anatomage Virtual Dissection Table to enhance our CTE students' education, skill acquisition, college readiness and post-graduate career opportunities. This table creates opportunities for students to visualize anatomy, participate in dissection, reinforce anatomical terminology and structure while observing abnormalities and pathological conditions.

As you are aware, I teach the Sports Medicine Sequence at FHS. The addition of this technology-rich apparatus enriches current applications and devices used in the Health Sciences and Medical Fields in Nevada. Consequently, this state of the art technology would benefit all CNA, Health Science, Medical Terminology and Sports Medicine students with instantaneous feedback throughout each authentic anatomical and physiological learning experience. Furthermore, the Anatomage Virtual Dissection Table articulates with the Nevada Academic Content Standards and the Nevada Education Performance Framework. Regular use of the apparatus would assist students in developing the proficiencies necessary for high demand and high-wage Nevada occupations and College readiness.

Likewise, integration of the Anatomage Virtual Dissection Table would be effective for student recruitment and therefore result in the expansion of Fernley High's Health Sciences classes. Moreover, acquisition of this apparatus could lead to CTE program retention, improved graduation rates and certification attainment. Ultimately, for interested individuals, college credit can be obtained in a shorter time and at lower educational costs.

Below is a link to the Anatomage Virtual Dissection Table site for you to view. Thank you for your consideration in this matter and I am confident that you will discover the importance of the Anatomage Virtual Dissection Table for Health Science students at Fernley High School.

We would like to upgrade our welding lab by adding a ¼" X 10' 10HP National Hydraulic Shear. We currently only have a JET Foot Shear, which is very limited in what we can cut.

The ¼" X 10' 10HP National Hydraulic Shear will allow us to expand what we can cut. Our current Foot Shear will only cut a maximum of 16 Gauge material. The new machine will allow us to cut material up to ¼" to 3/8". This will allow us to cut material to help students prepare for different types of welding joints. The National Hydraulic Shear will provide the ability to make straight line 90 degree cuts on flat stock, cleaner cuts, straighter edge than traditional torch cutting, cuts without forming chips, burning, warping or melting the material.

Perhaps the biggest advantage of hydraulic shearing is that it provides minimal or no kerf, with virtually no loss of material which equates to minimize waste.

Many industries in the surrounding areas use some sort of hydraulic shear. We can help students prepare for some entry level jobs by becoming familiar and providing hands on use in our welding lab. The hydraulic shear will allow us to cut material to help students prepare and practice for different types of basic welding joints as well as the advance students preparing their welding coupons for their practice certification welding test joints. Which in turn will also help students reach exit level standards that are designed to be completed at the end of the welding program of study.

Description of project:

For Health Science, I would like to purchase 3 manikins in order for students to visualize the human body in-depth with our Anatomy in Clay models. The first is a male muscular figure that shows multiple layers of muscles and has 37 detachable parts. The second is a full-figure nervous system model which will allow students to discover a head-to-toe view of the human nervous system beneath the outer-body surface. The third is a vascular system model, which will acquaint students with the way blood flows through the human body.
