Cloquet School Board Live Stream Analytics

Definitions

Peak Live Views

This metric is also called “peak concurrent viewers.” It measures the maximum number of simultaneous viewers while a stream was live. Keep in mind that the total number of views may be much higher than this number because people often join or leave midstream. If one viewer leaves as another joins, they would be counted as one viewer for this metric (but two viewers in “Total Views”).

Total Views

The total number of times the stream/video was viewed from the start of the livestream until the video was made unavailable.

Unique Viewers

Estimated number of people who watched a particular video.

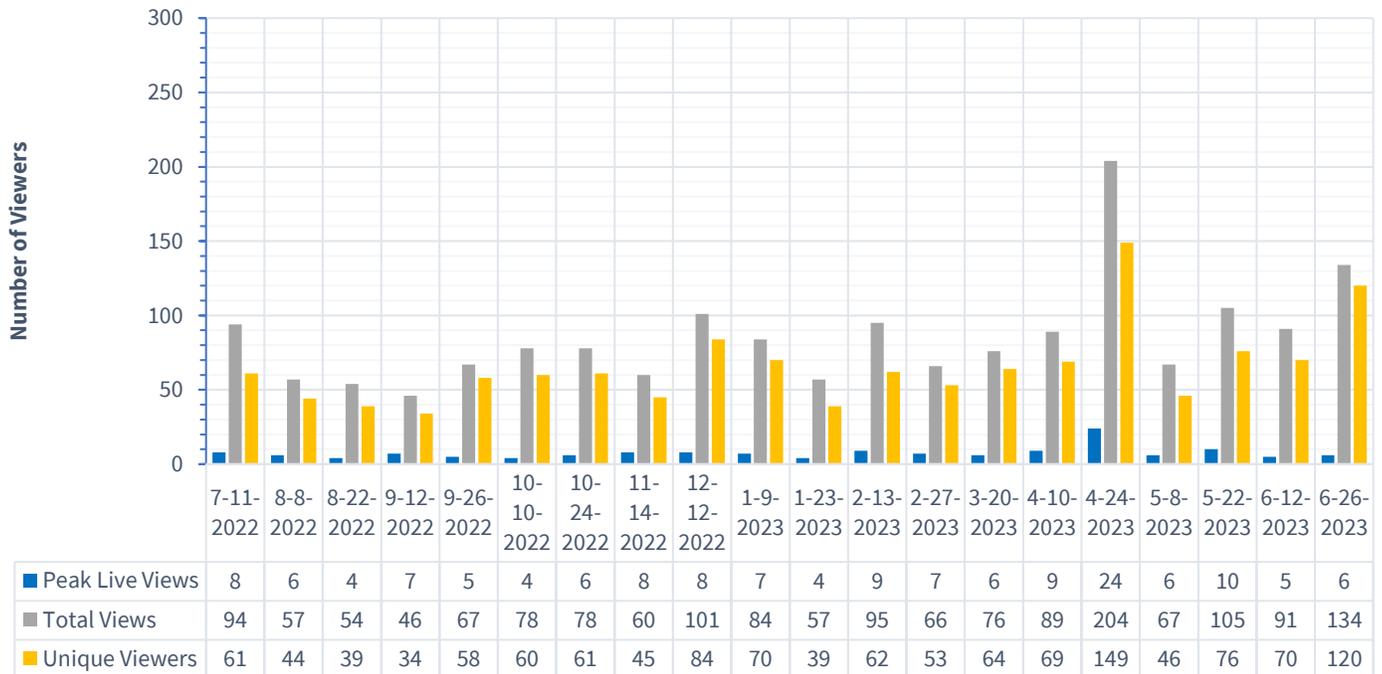

From YouTube:

“The data measures the total reach of a video by accounting for cases when a viewer may watch content on different devices or when multiple viewers share the same device. The system includes data from devices and includes both signed in and signed out traffic to estimate the number of viewers. Whether they watch on a computer or mobile, or watch more than once, that counts as one unique viewer.”
