Intermediate District 287 brings new approaches to new school year

Published September 10, 2015 at 12:27 pm

By Derek Bartos

With a growing demand for its services, Intermediate District 287 is rolling out a variety of new approaches this year to meet the needs of its students and teachers.

Intermediate District 287 staff members gathered for "Back to School" events throughout the district the week before students arrived for classes for their first day Sept. 8. The district welcomed approximately 55 new staff members for the new school year. (Submitted photo)

The district welcomed its staff back for the 2015-16 school year at the beginning of the month, and students began filling classrooms Sept. 8.

"Everybody is always excited at back-to-school time, but I think this year especially, people are excited about our new strategic plan and some of the emphasis we're having on supporting our staff," said D287 Supt. Sandy Lewandowski.

The school board approved the district's strategic plan for 2015-2020 in June. It is focused on increasing student outcomes and increasing racial equity for all students. Teams are currently working on recommendations for implementation.

"We have an excitement about that plan because we feel it's so relevant," Lewandowski said. "Some of the kids come to us with the highest needs in the state."

Based in Plymouth, Intermediate District 287 serves students from the Brooklyn Center, Eden Prairie, Edina, Hopkins, Minnetonka, Osseo, Orono, Richfield, Robbinsdale, St. Louis Park, Wayzata and Westonka districts. It provides more than 120 programs and services for career, technical, gifted and special education.

Looking at this year's enrollment, Lewandowski said the district expects to have around 850 students in its special education site-based programs and area learning centers this year. The number is steady to slightly higher than last year, she said, although the district won't know for sure until its official count Oct. 1.

Lewandowski added that, since the district has numerous other services ranging from online programs to care and treatment programs, the number of students served is much higher.

"It's usually close to 10,000 students that we actually touch through a variety of different programs and services," she said.

One area that has substantially increased recently is the service the district provides to care and treatment facilities, such as the Hennepin County Home School for juvenile offenders or the new Prairie Care psychiatric facility in Brooklyn Park, Lewandowski said.

"Whenever there is a facility like that, that is located in one of our member districts, that member district usually calls upon us to provide the educational programming for the students while they are in that facility," she said.

The superintendent said that the district had one or two staff members for those services a few years ago, but that number has ballooned to more than 60 going into this year.

"That's a real area of growth for us, and it's a real challenging educational delivery system because the kids are typically staying as short as one or two days in those facilities all the way up to six months," she said. "So the challenge is having kids coming through the door basically every day and finding a way quickly to give them an educational instruction program that is appropriate and relevant for them."

Lewandowski attributed the growth to the increased focus on such students.

"I think it reflects the state and the Minnesota Department of Education putting a higher priority on kids with acute mental health needs," she said.

Another area seeing growth heading into the new school year is the needs of the district's special education students. While the enrollment numbers might not be increasing by a large amount, Lewandowski said the educational and behavioral needs of these students are, which demands more staff attention and facility space.

To meet the growing demand for its services, Intermediate District 287 increased its overall staff numbers from about 850 last year to approximately 875 this year. At its orientation before the first day of school, the district introduced roughly 55 new staff members.

Recognizing that staff members deal with a high level of workplace stress because of the students' growing needs, the district this year is focusing more on providing a culture of support and teamwork, Lewandowski said.

“Even though we believe we have high quality and passionate teachers, we’re more aware than ever of the importance of supporting them and recognizing them for their good work,” she said. “We know the more we can support them and understand the stress they’re under, they’re going to be able to do a better job and get better outcomes for kids.”

An example of this support includes mindfulness training, which the district piloted last year and will make available to all staff members this year.

“When you’re in a high stress situation, having techniques that give you a way to step back from the situation and calm yourself a little bit before you go back in can only help both the staff person and the student,” Lewandowski said.

The district also is working to provide more support with behavioral incidents, she said.

“In the past, we’ve had a multitude of different experts in our buildings to provide support,” she said. “What we’re trying to do this year is step back and look at that across the whole district and form more of a system that will result in a mobile response team. So if we have an incident in a particular building, we’ll be able to quickly spread word throughout the district to match the right expert or service with that situation.”

Lewandowski added that the district will focus not only on supporting its staff members, but also recognizing them. These efforts will range from small acknowledgements to larger pronouncements.

“We really hope to call out and shout out some of those good things our teachers are doing,” she said.

Re: What the Board Needs to Know about the Implementation of Our Strategic Plan

During the 2014-15 school year, the district's 2015-2020 Strategic Plan was written and was approved by the Board in June. The Board approved two new Mission Outcomes and three Strategies to achieve those Mission Outcomes. Action plans were developed by internal action teams for possible steps the implementation teams could take throughout 2015-2020 to achieve each of the identified results. The 2015-16 school year launches the first year of implementation of steps to achieve the identified results.

The following information outlines preliminary plans that the Implementation Teams will follow during the 2015-16 school year.

1. During summer 2015 the membership of the four Implementation Teams (Mission Outcomes Measurement, Strategy 1, Strategy 2 and Strategy 3) was identified upon recommendations from instructional and operational administrators. The membership of each Implementation Team represents a mixture of district perspectives, backgrounds, previous participation in current plan development and level of leadership experience. Each Implementation Team will include an Executive Director and the Internal Coordinator of the Strategic Plan who will be responsible for updating SIT on the progress of the team.
2. Implementation Teams will meet once a month from September-May from 2:30 PM - 5:30 PM for minimal disruption to students. The meetings will be held at a different district site each month.
3. Student involvement early on and throughout implementation will be critical to the success of the plan's implementation. At minimum, a core group of students will meet once a quarter to provide input on implementation strategies and each Implementation Team will determine ways to keep students involved and informed on an on-going basis.
4. One of the first tasks each Implementation Team will accomplish will be to establish a timeline of when each result will be worked on and accomplished by during 2015-2020.
5. Once the timelines have been established, actions will be taken to intentionally and strategically implement steps to achieve the results.
6. The District's application to participate in the 2015 Overcoming Racism Leadership Institute was approved and a team of administrators will be participating in it on October 2. The institute is sponsored by the Minnesota Education Equity Partnership and will provide information and resources that can be incorporated into the implementation of the Strategic Plan.
7. Presentations on the progress of the implementation of each team will be presented to the Core Planning Team on April 21, 2015.

Re: What the Board Needs to Know about Minnesota Department of Education (MDE)
Compliance Monitoring Results

Overview:

Minnesota Department of Education (MDE), Division of Compliance and Monitoring officially completed the district's evaluation of compliance regarding special education due process procedures. The district engaged in a number of self-monitoring exercises over the course of the last two years and the MDE concurred that areas of improvement include Notice of Evaluation practices, IEP Standards: Short and Long Term Compliance with Goals and Objectives and Modification of Assessment, and Progress Reporting for the IEP.

The MDE notified the district June 29, 2015 to develop 3 corrective actions plans (CAPS) which specify how the district will address findings of needed improvement. The following are actions the district is putting into place to fulfill the CAP requirements by February 2016:

- The Results Driven Accountability Committee (comprised of special education teachers, program facilitators, and school psychologists) will develop on-line trainings for district staff to address the highlighted areas of noncompliance.
- The Results Driven Accountability Committee will complete file reviews of 5% of the total number of files from each District 287 site; a total of 219 files will be reviewed for compliance.
- The Results Driven Accountability Committee will continue to closely monitor special education processes and procedures throughout the year.

Special Education Fiscal Monitoring

Overview:

A MDE special education fiscal monitoring of records for the 2013-14 school year occurred October through December 2014. A MDE special education fiscal monitoring includes a review of the following information.

- Time & effort reports (calendars/schedules) for randomly chosen staff for a month
- Payroll reports for two selected months
- Transportation - IEP documentation for selected students
- Procurement

- Written procedures from requisition to paid invoice, including contracts, credit card purchases & employee reimbursements
- The General Ledger for all special education codes for the entire school year
- Transaction records for selected purchases from requisition to paid invoice
- Detailed information for all purchases/contracts over $100,000
- Equipment – written procedures and inventory records

District 287 received the final report of the special education fiscal monitoring on June 30, 2015. The report stated the following:

- Appreciation for the cooperation and assistance provided by district staff during the review.
- Twelve Compliance Items had No Findings of Non-Compliance
- One Finding of Non-Compliance was included in the report in the Procurement area

The finding has two components to it.

- 1) Description of Instructional Purpose was not present on records included in MDE sample. District 287 Purchasing Practices and forms include the requirement for including an instructional purpose when a requisition is completed, as this is a requirement of EDGAR 34.
- 2) Supervisor/Principal pre-authorization for P-card purchases. Two of the transactions in the sample monitored by MDE were approved after the purchase was made.

Summary and Plan of Action:

Corrective Action documentation of two separate purchase transaction records in compliance with these two areas from requisition to payment must be submitted to MDE by November 1st.

The Finance Department in collaboration with Special Education has developed a Purchasing Procedures Update that has already been shared with School Support Staff and has been communicated to all staff with the Back to School Information. Purchasing has met with each site to assist them in implementing the Purchasing Procedures Update.

Regular Meeting – September 10, 2015

AGENDA SECTION: BOARD BUSINESS

ITEM: Resolution to Amend Current Contract and Enter into a New Three-Year Contract with the Superintendent upon Completion of the Current Contract

PRESENTED BY: Board Officers

1. Background Information

The current contract with the Superintendent expires June 30, 2016. Assuming satisfactory completion of this contract, the new three-year contract would begin on July 1, 2016 and expire on June 30, 2019.

The changes to the current contract, and differences between the current and the new contract, pertain to salary, retirement incentive, and vacation. In the interests of keeping the Superintendent's total compensation competitive with her colleagues, while at the same time ensuring that the District 287 Superintendent's compensation is neither at the top or the bottom in comparison to member district superintendents, the proposed changes are modest.

Taken together, the total package increase for the proposed changes is 3.78% over four years (the last year of the current contract as amended, and a new three-year contract).

2. Fiscal Impact/Funding Source: None

3. RECOMMENDED ACTION: The Board approves amending the third year of the current contract and entering into a new three-year contract effective July 1, 2016, as presented.
