II. Roll Call

III. Affordable Housing as a Predictor of School Enrollment

Teig Whaley-Smith, Executive Director, Community Development Alliance

The Baby Boomers were America's largest population. What they decide to do with their family homes will have a significant impact on future school enrollment. If a community's homes are occupied by a large number of empty nesters then school enrollment will drop unless that community has a strategy to produce homes that are accessible to young families. Mr. Whaley-Smith will present on trends in Shorewood's housing and how they may impact future enrollment in Shorewood schools.
