Economic and Market Commentary: Not the time to lack 'conviction'

July 1, 2025

One of the numerous costs of President Trump's assault on Federal Reserve Chair Powell is casting monetary policy as black and white. It might have seemed that way decades ago. Before Chair Bernanke essentially opened it to the public, the Fed was a black box. It communicated primarily through the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) statement and daily trading operations rather than through speeches, press conferences and Congressional testimony. But monetary policy is as gray as it gets in economics, involving as much opinion as data.

Trump's tirades also drown out healthy discussions about the central bank. Had he not issued a screed after the FOMC held rates steady last month, the main story might have been a growing restlessness among officials. Actually, it should be. No participant dissented from the decision, but the June Statement of Economic Projections (SEP) shifted subtly from March's, suggesting a potential divide. While the median "dot" of the fed funds rate remained at 3.9% — implying two quarter-point cuts this year — seven voters indicated zero cuts compared to four in March.

Powell's response to the shift was to downplay the significance of the dot plot. "No one holds these rate paths with a great deal of conviction...and you can make a case for any of the rate paths that you see in the SEP."

**Definition of Weighted Average Maturity and Weighted Average Life

WAM is the mean average of the periods of time remaining until the securities held in the fund's portfolio (a) are scheduled to be repaid, (b) would be repaid upon a demand by the fund or (c) are scheduled to have their interest rate readjusted to reflect current market rates. For government variable rate securities, if the interest rate is readjusted no less frequently than every 397 calendar days, the security shall be deemed to have a maturity equal to the period remaining until the next readjustment of the interest rate. For non-government variable rate securities, if the security has a scheduled maturity of 397 days or less the security is treated as maturing on the earlier of the date the security is scheduled to be repaid through demand or the period remaining until the next readjustment of the interest rate. If the variable rate security has a scheduled maturity that is more than 397 days it is the later of those two dates. The mean is weighted based on the percentage of the market value of the portfolio invested in each period.

WAL is calculated in the same manner as WAM, but is based solely on the periods of time remaining until the securities held in TexPool (a) are scheduled to be repaid or (b) would be repaid upon a demand by TexPool, without reference to when interest rates of securities within TexPool.

One could ask why policymakers bother to produce the SEP if they do not have “conviction.” Perhaps they actually don’t, as there is speculation the Fed might alter the dot plot in its soon-to-be-released updated policy framework. In any case, it seems we won’t see a rate cut until September.

In the face of withering criticism, it would have behooved Powell to be resolute in his opinion that increased tariffs and intensified geopolitical conflicts could put upward pressure on inflation. After all, his stance has been to avoid the policy mistakes of the 1970s, when the Fed lowered rates too soon and inflation reaccelerated. On this point, he has the backing of most of the FOMC; members raised the Core PCE levels they expect to see in the near future.

One member who seems close to dissenting is Governor Christopher Waller. Citing the weakening labor market, he said he would support a rate cut at July’s meeting. But he was appointed by Trump and might be auditioning to succeed Powell. Speaking of that, the Wall Street Journal reported that Trump might take a path we knew was possible: naming the person he will appoint to succeed the Fed chair far earlier than is typical. The newspaper floated Waller, Fed Governor Kevin Warsh, National Economic Council director Kevin Hassett, Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent and former World Bank President David Malpass. That’s a lot of names, though. By the time it is sorted out, it already might be time to announce the nominee.

At the end of the month, yields on 1-, 3-, 6- and 12-month US Treasuries were 4.28%, 4.33%, 4.26% and 3.98%, respectively.
