Director Rochester updated the Board on a visit to Garfield Elementary School.

Director Ball updated the Board on her attendance at a Wellness Council meeting, and a meeting of the Oregon Education Investment Board.

IV. STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS

Lucas Luna of Crescent Valley High School reported on the following topics: the success of mock interviews for juniors at the annual high school career fair; Impact Day, a day for breaking down stereotypes in school; fundraising efforts for Mr./Mrs. CV include auctioning off parking spots, and Shamrock Grams; new Litter Bug program, which encourages students not to litter.

V. SUPERINTENDENT’S REPORT

A. Special Ed. Review Next Steps

Dr. Prince provided information about the Special Education review and next steps. She also shared the following: she participated in Read Across America and read to 5th grade students at Jefferson Elementary School; she toured Corvallis Community Outreach, Inc.; she attended the Corvallis High School playoff game; she attended the annual Spring Fun Run for Kids; she presented at the Corvallis City Club as well as at Leadership Corvallis for their Education Day.

VI. PUBLIC TESTIMONY

Janiece Harrison, 7340 NW Madrone Way, Corvallis. Member of Youth M.O.V.E., which is a group of kids that range in age from 14 to 25, that promote youth motivating youth. Graduated from Corvallis High School last year. Ms. Harrison was one of the first students in Home Court program. Home Court gave her instruction and support, and would like the program to continue, as it helped her and others. Was briefly enrolled in CLASS; it wasn’t the right program for her, but it did help other students. Alternative education does not work for everyone, sometimes it is not enough, some students do not do well in large crowds. She would like the School Board and the district to help schools be inclusive for all students.

Michael Anderson, student at Crescent Valley High School. Mr. Anderson currently participates in the Home Court program, which has introduced him to like-minded people, who are his friends. The program has been an invaluable resource. Found that the standard high school setting was not working for him. Going to program at College Hill has helped him to enjoy learning and his grades have improved dramatically, because teachers were willing to work around his problems. He now feels ready and prepared for college. Believes that a big high school is not the best environment for everyone to learn in, but is worried that the direction of the current program for alternative education is for students that fall into the category of delinquent. Mr. Anderson does not think the current system should be replaced, but believes that a separate program should exist.

Erik Swartzendruber, 495 SE Standish Avenue, Corvallis. Mr. Swartzendruber is the President of the Board of Charter Schools. Gave an update to the School Board on Muddy Creek Charter School, including the following: Muddy Creek Charter School building updates, currently have four new heat pumps; partnership with ART group; Wildlife Stewards contest will be hosted at the school; update on projects and place learning, as well as local field trips; looks forward to a continued partnership with the Corvallis School District.

Denise Cardinali, 6017 SW Grand Oaks Drive, Corvallis. Ms. Cardinali appreciates the Special Education report, but feels it poorly reflects the input of parents. The questions on the survey were too difficult to answer; feels that a survey should have questions that generate meaningful responses. Spoke to the Board of families that have chosen to leave Special Education, and parents that are worried their children will not get a diploma. District administration should look at the students who have left Special Education, who are now in middle and high school. Administrators should also look into families that have left the district, because Special Education was not working for them.

Susan Melero, 1687 NW Division Street, Corvallis. A self-advocate for disabled people, stated that Special Education is the number one priority for people with disabilities. Attended Special Education, and received a modified diploma from a high school in Albany, but had a difficult time with bullying from other students. Hopes that students currently in Special Education have a better experience in school than she did. Wants people with disabilities to advance.

Peter and Sara Gelser, 4030 NW Glen Eden Dr., Corvallis, OR. Have a child with intellectual disabilities, and advocate for children with disabilities. Stated that it has been frustrating not being heard. Admire the creativity and passion of Principal Matt Boring of Corvallis High School, and Superintendent Prince. Ms. Gelser feels hopeful for all children who are starting school, that there is now someone taking the lead. It is important to value all students, and to ensure that children with disabilities get the same opportunities as everyone else. She hopes that the district can create a culture that assumes competency in its students. Mr. Gelser, in the past, has asked for leadership in the district, and would like steps to be taken in regards to issues in Special Education.

VII. STAFF TESTIMONY

No staff testified.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. Homeless Student Issues

Crescent Valley High School Principal Cherie Stroud, Family Outreach Advocate Carolyn Hinds, and Councilor Annika Mauelshagen, gave a PowerPoint presentation about Homeless Student Issues. (Filed as Supplemental Item #VII-18 in the Official 2011-12 Board Minutes.)

A summary of the presentation, along with answers by staff to questions from Board members, follows:

- It is Federal Law for a school district to employ an advocate for homeless students.
- Housing in Corvallis is expensive; there are many issues that need to be solved.
- Housing issues can be a barrier to learning.
- Currently 37% of students in the district qualify for free and reduced lunch.
- The Corvallis School District identified 175 students a year that are served by homeless advocates, but this number does not represent them all.
- Homes of Hope program—main mission includes rent in the Corvallis community that does not exceed $300 a month.
- Community partnerships are very important, i.e. the Homeless and Education Resource Team (HEART) program out of Spokane, Washington, which is a program that is in place to address and support the educational needs of students who find themselves in temporary or transitional housing during the school year.
- Unlike Eugene and Portland, Corvallis does not have a campground and does not currently allow car camping in church parking lots.
- It is difficult for children to stay connected to school when they are moving around all the time.
- It is important to understand that many different lifestyles are labeled as “poverty.”
- The district should develop programs that incorporate the life experiences of children who live in poverty.

B. PLC Report – Lincoln Second Grade Team

The Lincoln Second Grade team including teachers, Sidney Rosen, Lural Ramirez, and Shahnaz Sahnaw gave a report on Professional Learning Communities (PLC).

A summary of the report as well as answers by staff from questions from Board Members follows:

- Whenever the PLC meets, there is a focus on four essential guiding questions: What do we want our students to learn? How do we know they’ve learned it? What do we do for the kids who haven’t learned it? What do we do for the kids who already know it?
- Their PLC box is an organizational tool that holds information such as student information, history of interventions that were used, Tier paperwork, assessments, and parent contact log. These files follow the students from grade to grade.

- Hoping to develop an electronic system for all information that is currently included in the PLC box.
- Confidentiality is a drawback to implementing an electronic system.
- It is important to keep track of the several interventions that are used on students. Any system of organization is useful, as everything is documented.
- Common Formative Assessments (CFA).
- Teachers appreciate the opportunity to support and learn from one another during PLC time.
- PLC note taking form is a uniform way to keep track of and disseminate information.
- It is important to look at the grade as a whole, not just classroom by classroom.
- RTI and Tier paperwork means that teachers don't have to start over from scratch as students move through the grades.
- PLC time is very specific to the Corvallis School District.
- PLC time helps teachers to know the strengths and needed growths of all their students. It makes the teacher's work more efficient and effective.
- During the previous school year, a lot of work was done in developing the CFA forms, now it is ready for subsequent years.
- PLC process gives teachers time to look at interventions that have taken place on individual students, and how the students responded to them.
- PLC process has a hierarchy of goals to achieve as well as a calendar to follow.

C. PLC Report – Freshmen Success Rate

Crescent Valley High School Principal Cherie Stroud and Corvallis High School Principal Matt Boring gave a PowerPoint presentation to the Board reporting on the freshman success rate for the first semester of the 2011-12 school year. (Filed as Supplemental Item #VII-19 in the Official 2011-12 Board Minutes.)

A summary of the presentation, along with answers by staff to questions from Board members follows:

- At Corvallis High School, out of 396 freshmen, 83 students earned a 4.0 GPA, and 57 students failed at least one class.
 - Student grade level is retained in the computer system; some students start in the system in the 9th grade, but did not receive enough credits to advance to the 10th grade, so they stay in the system as 9th graders.
 - The failure rate in 11th and 12th grade is 9.7 percent, as opposed to 17 percent in the 9th grade.
 - This is the first year at Corvallis High School that Pre-Algebra was not offered to students. There were 41 F grades in Algebra I.
 - The district must admit that without offering Pre-Algebra, students were put in a situation where they could not succeed in Algebra I.
 - Of the 57 freshman who failed a class, approximately one half were on free and reduced lunch.

- Hispanic students make up 13 percent of the freshman class, but 30 percent of the students who are failing the classes.
- Approximately 11 percent of 9th grade students are on IEPs.
- In the past, when a student failed Algebra I in the fall semester, they could not retake the class until the next fall. A new system has been developed to give students an opportunity to catch up during an intensive block offered in the spring.
- Student failure rate is expensive for the district; it costs approximately $500 per class when a student fails.
- At Crescent Valley High School, 51 percent of all grades finished at the A level, four percent at the F level. Freshmen lag behind in A's and are further ahead in F's.
 - Special education students' rate of failure is much higher than other student groups.
 - 6.8 percent 9th grade failure rate is mostly due to Algebra I.
 - TAG students have a 6 percent failure rate.
 - Retaining students in grades is not enough; students do learn that failure is an option.
 - Of the 9th graders who failed this semester, 42 percent are on free and reduced lunch. 56 percent of them have been in the district their entire life.
 - It is important to pay attention to the level students enter high school at, meet them at that level, and move them on from there.
 - Many 9th graders were not prepared for Algebra I.
- Spreading classes out should be beneficial; some of the district's most at-risk students have the worst attendance.
- An intensive block is useful to students who come into high school under grade level. There are some benefits to an intensive block, but a year-long program is essential.
- At the middle school level, staff is working really hard to put interventions in at their level.
- Both high schools are holding an FTE for pre-algebra.
- Open dialogue between middle school and high school is necessary and a positive first step.
- Necessary to have a conversation about what a grade means. The district should understand if poor grades are a result of student's not doing homework, or not truly understanding the material.
- With changes in curriculum, early consistent intervention will help students and teachers alike in the future.
- Students often have a history of struggle in classes, but it is not until they get to high school that they are retained a grade level for the first time.
- It is important for the School Board and the district as a whole to not be afraid of the data that is presented, and understand this is a complex issue. Understand that change takes time.

D. Preliminary Budget Recommendations

Superintendent Erin Prince gave a Budget Process Update to the Board. (Filed as Supplemental Item #VII-20 in the Official 2011-12 Board Minutes.)

The presentation focused on recommendations given by the Budget Task Force, which included; one-time savings, renewable savings, and sustainable savings. The presentation also touched on other resource-saving strategies suggested by the Budget Task Force.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. PLC Report – Linus Pauling Middle School Math

Assistant Superintendent Kevin Bogatin and Linus Pauling Middle School math teachers Paul

Regan, Jenni Peterson, and Marion Thenell, presented a report on Professional Learning Communities (PLC).

A summary of the presentation, along with answers from staff by questions from Board Members follows:

- Before PLC time was created, there was no means for teachers to contact one another for guidance, especially new teachers.
- This is the first or second year of middle school getting PLC time; it is still a work in progress.
- PLCs at the elementary level are the result of a lot of district resources; the middle school level does not have the level of those resources yet.
- PLC time was first used for adopting textbooks; middle school and high school staff collaborated on math textbook adoption.
- This year, PLC time has primarily been taken up with Common Core State Standards.
- With Common Core State Standards still coming out, teachers are learning how to assist students in all levels and requirements.
- Teachers come away from PLC with new ideas and resources, and the reassurance that other teachers are facing similar struggles.
- LPMS teachers have been able to meet with at Cheldelin and Corvallis High School.
- Staff would like to meet with elementary and high school teachers, to create a PLC community.
- General topics covered in PLC time include; intervention ideas, OAKS testing, and peer tutoring conversations.
- Agenda items are covered, as well as issues that come up.
- Balancing when PLC time will be held with part-time staff can be a challenge.
- Shared teaching strategies and assessments, means that teachers have multiple resources to draw from when teaching and assessing common core standards.
- Students receive the benefit of more than one teacher, because teachers can get ideas from one another during PLC.
- Peer tutoring has been successful; brought students in during lunch and after school. Some students double up on math in order to get more exposure.
- Purchased intervention program called, “America’s Choice.” Looking at technology-based solutions.
- Middle school teachers see 160 students a day, in 45 minute time spans.
- Collecting data, putting it in usable form, and getting information back out to teachers is extremely difficult. Need to find a more meaningful way of processing data.
- Class sizes in core math are very high. A cap of 15 students has been set for intervention classes.
- Middle school teachers cannot teach to interventions in class, unlike at the elementary level. In middle school, more creative methods have to be taken.
- It can be difficult to make changes mid-year in regards to interventions, as a student’s entire schedule may need to be changed.
- Interventions are more effective with younger students.
- Assessment pieces are important; teachers can find out what students want to learn about.

B. PLC Report – Cheldelin Middle School Science

Cheldelin Principal Geoff Penrose, along with Cheldelin science teachers Janice Rosenberg and Britten Clark-Huyck presented a PLC report.

A summary of the presentation, along with answers from staff by questions from Board Members follows:

- PLC time is beneficial to teachers as they can share ideas and not teach in isolation. The value the district has placed on professional development is greatly appreciated.
- .3 FTE in science at Cheldelin. Some teachers have colleagues that teach the exact same content, some do not.
- Standards are a great way to teach, it helps to focus on what content to teach to students.
- Use of Model-Based inquiry. Students represent what they know on paper. Teachers can then see what the students have learned and what they already know, and are able to adjust instruction in order to benefit the students.
- New scoring guide for work samples includes engineering and design. PLC time allowed teachers to develop a project that would give students more experience in these areas.
- Alignment of middle school and high school schedules with allow for more time for cross collaboration between teaching staff.
- PLC time is essential in creating a learning environment for students.
- Cheldelin has full 6th grade intervention program, and students did very well on tests. Most time and effort is put into 6th grade interventions.
- The process of curriculum adoption is transitioning toward technology, not textbooks.
- A greater collaboration with high school teachers would be beneficial.
- Technology is becoming more of a reality for students and curriculum adoption.
- There is a place for online learning for students, but there are gaps in that system as well. The district was to use teachers to their full benefit and potential.
- Staff is looking into grading practices.
- Cross-curriculum is being written at Cheldelin.
- The differences in standards can be challenging in terms of combining math and science lessons.
- Elementary science teachers are doing a great job; incoming sixth graders are prepared for the middle school curriculum.
- Teachers must also develop a process for students who come into the class already familiar with the material.
- Sustainability in education was a common theme that was adopted by all grade level PLCs.
- Student assessment is done through smaller quizzes; teachers can see where students need more help.
- Balancing the needs of all teachers during PLC time can be difficult, but it is important.

IX. CONSOLIDATED ACTION

Director Ball asked that Board Policy GBCC be held for discussion. She also asked that the words “In six years” be removed from the beginning of a sentence on page 62 of the February 27, 2012 minutes.

Director Rochester noted that although he supports the adoption of the music curriculum (item B.3.), he was surprised at the cost; he expressed his desire to conduct due diligence to ensure that the cost of the technology is a justifiable expense. Director Ball noted similar concerns.

MOTION #19: It was moved by Director Rodman and seconded by Director Corrigan to approve the consolidated action agenda with the exception of item B.5. – Policy GBCC and with the change in the February 27, 2012 minutes requested by Director Ball.

The motion was voted on and passed unanimously.

The following items were approved.

Superintendent Prince spoke on the following topics: Lincoln Elementary School was named a 2012 Celebrating Student Success Champion, awarded by the Oregon Department of Education. Lincoln has experienced 40-60 percent jump in students reaching state reading standards, and 20-

30 percent in math standards; Linus Pauling Middle School took third place in Oregon Battle of the Books; Cheldelin Middle School and Hoover Elementary School also had teams in the competition; 2012-13 school calendar will be changed to add extra days to the end of the year, to use in case of inclement weather; all administrative and non-represented employees have agreed to no COLA, step, or insurance increases for the next year, along with four furlough days.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. Linn-Benton County Service Learning Task Committee

Corvallis High School Career Education Advisor Donna Keim, member of the Linn-Benton Service Learning Task Committee, and Crescent Valley High School student Jonathan Elliot gave a presentation regarding service learning programs at the Corvallis School District.

A summary of the presentation, along with answers by presenters to questions from Board members, follows:

- The Linn-Benton County Service Learning Task Committee was convened two years ago.
- Goal is to keep service learning a focal point to training new teachers.
- Important to understand the difference between community service and service learning.
- There is a value to service learning; it is used in the real world and gives students experience.
- Service learning teaches students to become self-directed learners.
- Service learning projects can fit into any subject matter.
- Greater Albany School District incorporated service learning training for staff during professional development in August, and as a result has more staff involvement.
- Service learning brings student driven organizations to the forefront.
- The library at College Hill Alternative High School was developed in part to student drive and service learning opportunities.
- Currently there are 15 businesses in the area that are trained to accept students for service learning opportunities. The amount of business participating is kept low, in order to maintain the quality of the program.
- It is important to notify students and staff of the various projects that are available.
- There are many opportunities for students; many students use 4H to meet their service learning requirement.
- Service learning is an important factor in dropout prevention.
- The district should give profession development time for staff to become trained in service learning in order to have greater staff involvement.
- Student, Jonathan Elliot, developed a website for Interfaith Caregivers as part of his service learning opportunity.
- Service learning opportunities in the sciences are easier to come by, because the State of Oregon has developed packets for schools that include lists of projects for students to complete.

B. Instructional Technology Update

Assistant Superintendent Kevin Bogatin, Title I and Elementary Curriculum Coordinator Amy Lesan, Technology Services Manager Rob Singleton, Hoover Elementary School Principal Bryan Traylor and Linus Pauling Middle School Principal Eric Beasley gave a PowerPoint presentation on Instructional Technology. (Filed as Supplemental Item #VII-21 in the Official 2011-12 School Board Minutes.)

A summary of the presentation along with answers by staff to questions from Board Members follows:

- Technology is an area of ongoing interest for the Corvallis School District.
- Canby School District is a pioneering school district in terms of the use of iPods and iPads to assist children, and has shown associated gains in achievement as measured by OAKS.
- Online textbooks are an innovation that is rapidly developing.
- Science classes have made a proposal to adopt iPad learning, using e-textbooks.
- Students must have a device or be lent one in order to access new technology.
- The district will look into leasing programs and other models of how to adopt technology and keep it sustainable for years to come.
- Funding for purchase of technology would come from Instructional materials budget, technology budget, and the Corvallis Public Schools Foundation. Some middle school principals would be contributing from individual school budget.
- Students with special needs are one group that could really benefit from this technology.
- Technology can increase the possibility of more distraction in the classroom. It will never replace classroom management or teacher awareness.
- It is important to view this as an instructional process, not just the technology that is being used. We need to assess what are the best tools for teachers to use in their classrooms.
- The focus in the classroom should be more about the learning environment and the engagement that is created between teachers and students, not about the technology.
- Linus Pauling Middle School has recently purchased Toshiba Netbooks that are mainly used for word processing.
- The district has an opportunity to look at how technology can serve us better.
- The Corvallis Public Schools Foundation wants to support the goals of the district. It has decided to broaden out its mini-grants program.
- It is important to have a pilot program for new technology in the district.
- Positive outcomes will happen, if technology is used intelligently in the classroom.
- There is a cost associated with textbook purchasing, the district is not looking to purchase right now, instead focus on classroom technology.
- The price of technology is consistently coming down, which is an important factor when thinking about the needs of replacing pieces in the future.
- Student centered technology will encourage teachers and staff to learn about the various ways technology can be used in the classroom.
- There are organizations that are looking to keep e-learning software free for academic institutions.

- Board members commended the committee on their forward-focused work. Director Ball challenged the committee to go further and faster with technology adoption, perhaps by focusing on middle schools, in particular, to foster greater engagement and preparation of students for high school.

III.C. Contract Award - Cheldelin Boiler Replacement Project

BOARD MEETING DATE:

May 21, 2012

FOR ACTION

SUBJECT: Contract Award – Cheldelin Boiler Replacement Project

Issue: Two existing gas boilers and expansion tanks at Cheldelin Middle School have exceeded their life expectancy and need to be replaced with high-efficiency condensing boilers. The project will include replacement of two heating water pumps and the domestic hot water heat exchanger. This project is scheduled for the summer of 2012. Replacing these systems will provide opportunities for energy efficiencies and system redundancy in the event of any mechanical issues.

Glumac Engineering designed the new system and the project was advertised in the Daily Journal of Commerce and the Gazette Times. A mandatory pre-bid meeting was held on Wednesday, April 18, 2012 where twelve contractor representatives were present.

Bids are due Tuesday, May 15, 2012 at 2:00 PM and the bid results will be published via an addendum to the school board by Friday, May 18, 2012.

Involvement: Kim Patten (Maintenance Supervisor), Paul Jennison (HVAC Technician), Glumac Engineering

Consequences: A delay in bid award could compromise the District's ability to complete the project during the 2012 summer. And, the efforts to continue maintenance on the existing equipment will be very costly and time consuming for maintenance staff.

Cost Impact: The project will be funded by SB1149 and Construction Excise Tax resources. This project is included in the FY2012-13 proposed budget.

ACTION REQUESTED: Award the contract for the Cheldelin Middle School Boiler Replacement Project.

CONTACT PERSONS: Kim Patten, Roy Burling

III.D. Healthy Sexuality Curriculum Adoption

BOARD MEETING DATE:

FOR ACTION

SUBJECT: Healthy Sexuality Curriculum Adoption

Issue: Oregon has revised the standards and law in the area of human sexuality: Oregon Revised Statute 336.455 reads that “each school district shall provide age-appropriate human sexuality education courses in all public elementary and secondary schools.”

Currently, there is inconsistent implementation of human sexuality curriculum across schools; additionally some of the materials in use are outdated. Board Policy requires periodic review of healthy sexuality curriculum materials. Also, we were fortunate to receive a grant and guidance from Oregon Department of Education to walk us through the process of curriculum alignment and adoption. For these reasons, one area of focus for curriculum adoption this year is healthy sexuality curriculum.

Options Considered:

- Review current curriculum and policy and chose not to revise
- Review current curriculum and policy and revise as necessary*
- Review current curriculum and policy and revise during next Health adoption cycle through ODE

*Option chosen because we received the grant and the health teachers were very interested in doing this work.

Involvement: The following groups of people were involved for this curriculum review:
School Health Advisory Committee (SHAC) Team members include:

- | | |
|---|--|
| • Health teachers representing 5th, middle school (MS) and high school (HS) | • Local Faith Group Representatives |
| • District Office/Instructional Services | • Benton County Health Department Representative |
| • Parents | • School District Nurse |
| • Administrators MS and HS | • LGTB University Representative |
| • Local Pediatrician | • DAPAC (Diversity Action Committee) |

Consequences: Our current policy is currently out of alignment with the ODE recommended policy. Failure to revise policy and curriculum will result in not meeting current Oregon standards.

- HIV-AIDS LAW
Oregon Revised Statute 336.455 Human sexuality education courses; criteria
- REVISED ADMINISTRATIVE RULE (12/04/09) OAR 581-022-1440: Comprehensive Sexuality Education, Infectious Diseases Including Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), and Hepatitis B and C.

Cost Impact: We received $10,000 WISE in Oregon Grant. This grant covered substitute cost for teachers to work on curriculum, teachers to attend the statewide conference on healthy sexuality, substitute or stipend for committee work. The curriculum that is being recommended is a free curriculum. The training will be a minimal cost that we will fold into the professional development plan for 2012-13.

ACTION REQUESTED: Approve the curriculum recommended by the School Health Advisory Council, as outlined on page two of the attached document entitled “Supporting Information.”

Healthy Sexuality Materials Curriculum Adoption
Corvallis School District 509J
May 21, 2012

Curriculum Adoption Update – In the upcoming weeks you will receive updates for all of the areas we are adopting this year. The focus of this document will be the Healthy Human Sexuality materials. Below is a brief timeline and update to where we are in this process.

WHY ARE WE LOOKING AT THIS MATERIAL ADOPTION NOW?

- There has been a revision of Oregon health standards and laws in the area of human sexuality
- There is inconsistent implementation of human sexuality curriculum, some of which is outdated (e.g. video from 1980s)
- Board policy requires periodic review of human sexuality curriculum
- Currently, we have funding through ODE to provide guidance and leadership in this area

WHO IS INVOLVED IN THE PROCESS?

- All MS and HS Health teachers
- Representative 5th Grade teachers
- School Health Advisory Committee (SHAC) Team, members include:
 - Health teachers representing 5th, middle school (MS) and high school (HS)
 - District Office/Instructional Services
 - Parents
 - Administrators MS and HS
 - Local Pediatrician
 - Local Faith Group Representatives
 - Benton County Health Department Representative
 - School District Nurse
 - LGTB University Representative
 - DAPAC (Diversity Action Committee)

WHAT PLANNING AND WORK HAVE BEEN DONE?

In the spring of 2011, I was informed that we needed to update our policy regarding healthy sexuality materials. As I began to investigate this, we concurrently received a parent complaint regarding the video we currently use in our Human Development Unit in 5th grade. I uncovered that our curriculum hadn't been updated for between 7 years and 15 years depending on the grade level; the elementary video in use is from the 80's. I made a contact at ODE and discovered that they had support staff to walk us through a curriculum alignment and materials adoption. At this time, I also applied for, and was awarded, a grant titled WISE in Oregon for which we received $10,000 to help fund the following process.

Beginning in the fall this school year, we began a series of meetings for two groups: one, the health teachers in the district and the other, the SHAC, as described above. The ultimate goal for both groups is to come together to present updated sexual health policy, standards and materials to the school board for adoption this school year and use in the classroom next year.

Below is a timeline and brief description of meetings that occurred for both groups.

Date/Timeline	SHAC(Representative Group)	All Health Teachers
Fall (October and November)	• Introductions • Process, Timeline and Commitment	• Review standards • Understand law • Reviewed local data
Winter (January and February)	• Review of Standards • Understanding of current law	• Alignment of standards • Curriculum review and development • Recommendation to SHAC
Spring (April and May)	• Review of curriculum options • Healthy Sexuality Conference Update • Presentation to School Board	• Attend Healthy Sexuality Conference • Materials Update to SHAC • Presentation to School Board
Fall (2012-13)	• Begin Work on new Health Issue 2012-13 school year (possibly Drug and Alcohol Prevention)	• Training on new healthy sexuality materials • Participation on SHAC

On Thursday, April 26, the SHAC met to review materials suggested by the health teachers. Each team (Elem, MS, HS) presented their recommendation of materials to address all of the laws, regulations and age appropriate topics. We found there was not one go to canned curriculum that addressed all of the standards. The two main materials we are recommending are linked below.

THE RECOMMENDATION IS:

- K-5th Grade Human Growth and Development – Update previous adoption with some additions from FLASH and Alberta Health Services
- MS Health – Primarily FLASH Curriculum with some supplemental curriculum from Alberta Health Services
- HS Health –FLASH curriculum with some supplements from Alberta Health Services

III.E. Science Digital Curriculum Adoption (Middle School and CVHS)

BOARD MEETING DATE:

FOR ACTION

SUBJECT: Science Digital Curriculum Adoption (Middle School and CVHS)

Issue: Our science curriculum at the middle and high school levels is outdated and up for re-adoption. (The state adoption year for science was last year.) However, the science standards for the state and nation will be changing soon (within the next 2 years) and we knew we need to carefully spend allocated textbook adoption funds.

Options Considered:

Renewing adoption of current textbooks

Purchasing new textbooks

Purchasing digital textbooks and hardware for those texts

Purchasing hardware and utilizing free digital curriculum*

*Option recommended.

We recommend spending the textbook allocated funds for these schools on iPads and iPad accessories necessary for utilizing the iPad as a textbook (e.g., app. purchases).

Involvement:

A team of administrators visited Tillamook School District to learn about their purchase of iPads and CK-12 last year through their textbook adoption process. Another team of teachers and administrators visited Canby School District to learn about using iPad technology in the classroom. Additionally, a team of potential adopters and users of new technology in their classroom attended the Instructional Technology Strategy Conference (ITSC) in Portland, OR. After attending and/or hearing about the above professional development both the middle school science teachers and CVHS science teachers met with instructional services and ultimately proposed adopting CK-12 and iPads in lieu of purchasing textbooks.

For your information, here is a blurb about CK-12:

CK-12 Foundation is a non-profit organization with a mission to reduce the cost of textbook materials for the K-12 market both in the U.S. and worldwide. As a leading member of the OER movement, CK-12 is using an open-content, web-based collaborative model termed the "FlexBook." With these free, common core aligned and NSES aligned digital textbooks, CK-12 intends to pioneer the generation and distribution of high quality educational STEM content that will serve both as core text as well as provide an adaptive environment for learning through the FlexBook Platform™.

Consequences:

Current science textbooks are very old and outdated. Some have copyright dates from the 1980's. This is a group of teachers eager and ready to take on a new and exciting challenge in this digital age.

Cost Impact:

CK-12 curriculum is a free online curriculum. Training on the materials and iPads will be covered in Title II and technology budgets

ACTION REQUESTED: Approve CK-12 digital science curriculum for use at Linus Pauling, Franklin, and Cheldelin Middle Schools, and at Crescent Valley High School.
